

Vital Plastics Chooses Integrated Manufacturing Execution & Business Software from Solarsoft

Cincinnati, OH – August 12, 2010 – Solarsoft Business Systems and Mattec Corporation announced today that Vital Plastics Inc. has chosen to implement Mattec’s production monitoring technology together with Solarsoft’s ERP software in their operations. Vital Plastics specializes in injection-molding and assembly services, and strives to exceed their customers’ expectations. Established in 1994, Vital has enjoyed steady growth of their business, and now serves their customers out of a modern 40,000 sq ft facility in Baldwin, WI.

Vital’s decision to replace their old IQMS production monitoring system with newer technology was based on the technical solution and competitive pricing on both the system and annual maintenance. The Mattec manufacturing execution software, installed together with Solarsoft’s business software for plastics manufacturers, provides Vital an integrated system for managing their entire business and production. Vital can now enter production data right on the shop floor, there’s no need to manually record information and enter it into the system afterwards. The Mattec scheduling module provides improvements to Vital’s scheduling operations, and management dashboards provide a real-time view of the manufacturing operation. Solarsoft’s ERP software provides access to better management information, more effective sales order processing, and the ability to seamlessly integrate with supplier and customer systems.

“We are very excited about joining forces with both the Solarsoft and Mattec teams,” said Terry Townsend, President of Vital Plastics. “Our goal is to simply provide the best customer service possible. We believe that our new system and relationship with Solarsoft and Mattec will help us react even faster to our customers’ changing requirements.”
